Read! Write! Observe!

Observe the world around you...practice writing everyday...and READ! READ! READ!

READ! READ! READ! From books, to magazines to newspapers, I believe that reading allows and encourages people to develop their own voice and unique style of expression. I say, when you read, you develop and strengthen your vocabulary. You begin to differentiate between writing styles and you eventually find your sense of comfortability in writing and expressing that which you feel inside. And most importantly, by reading every day, writing and self expression will be greatly enhanced.

Here's to spreading the word!
